

About Tanabata(Written by Ten'ei village)

'Tanabata' is a traditional Japanese festival in which people write their dreams and wishes for the future onto long pieces of paper called 'tanzaku', the offer them up to the starry skies in the hope that their wishes will be granted.

At the Ten'ei village Tanabata festival, wishes from around Japan and the world will be gathered and offered together. Whether it be personal wishes of prayers for family and friends, please send your greatest wish or hope to the Ten'ei village Tanabata festival.

To the following address.

- ① Country name
- ② Name
- ③ Message

In the order show below.

Here are some examples of popular wishes:

'I wish for my family to always live in happiness'

'I wish for the person I love to become mysweetheart'

'I wish for peace and happiness all over the world'

Please send your wishes to this email address:

tenei.tanabata@gmail.com

Please remember to include your wish, your name, and the name of your country!